GEN. CATLIN AND POOL SELLING. The Blame for the Dismissal of Indictments

. I. S. Catlin resumed the witness stand before the Assembly investigating committee is Brooklyn yesterday. In regard to the wholesale dismissal of indictments on the eve of his retirement from the District Attorneyship fifty-five in all—he testified that he ascertained that the dismissals had been moved by Mr. specific instructions that all indictments under he gambling laws be turned over to Mr. Ridgway, his successor, for trial. He could not explain Mr. Oakey's action in the matter. He had not taken any steps to secure an explanation from Mr. Oakey. This class of cases was largely under the con trol of Anthony Comstock, who had full lati-tude in all such matters. Mr. Parsons mentioned a number of notorious policy sellers and gamblers to the General, compelling him to admit an acquaintance with their reputations, and then pressed him for reasons why they had not been prosecuted. He replied, generally, that he had turned all this class of cases over to Mr. Backus, his deputy, with instructions to prosecute them. He remembered asking Mr. McClelland, the policy dealer. He said these matters occurred three or four years ago, and matters occurred three or four years ago, and he could not undertake to tell what he had done personally, and he would not. He complained of Mr. Parsons's insistence in pressing such questions, and considered it unfair. The General was in the habit of attending the races at Coney Island before he became District. Atterney; after that he remained away purposely, not deeming it proper for him, as District. Atterney, to be where violations of the law might occur. In reply to Judge Green, the General said that from 1881 to 1883 the city Government of Brocklyn was non-partisan. Mr. Low, a Republican, was Mayor, but he was elected with the help of Democratic votes. Nearly all the heads of departments were Republicans.

To Mr. Parsons—I was a Republican (with emphasis on

To Mr. Parsons—I was a Republican (with emphasis on the was). I call myself a Republican still. I was the Republican candidate for Mayor at the last municipal Ex-Coroner Meninger was called to contra-dict John Y. Mitchell, who testified on Satur-day regarding packing money at Brighton Heach course. Mitchell had told him that he made up a particular package of $1,000 every afternoon, but the Coroner could not remem-ber whom it was for. It was handed to one of her whom it was for. It was handed to one of the managers.

John Oakey, who was one of Gen. Catlin's deputies and particularly charged with Grand Jury business, related his connection with the dismissed indictments. Those to be dismissed were indicated by Gen. Catlin, who also gave specific instructions that none of the Comstock indictments should be dismissed. Those to be dismissed the witness put in a package by themselves. Subsequently, when he was engaged one day in the Court of Sessions, Mr. Bacon, a clerk in the office, brought him a package of indictments with instructions to have them dismissed. He supposed they were the ones that had been selected by Gen. Catlin for dismissed, and he made the usual motions and they were dismissed. In making the motions he handled only half a dozen of the lot, giving to the Court the reasons why they should be dismissed, and then handed up the whole batch, saying that the reasons were of a similar nature as to all of them. He did not know that the Comstock indictments were in the package, and could not tell how they got there if they were there.

Bernard J. York, Clerk of the Court of Ses-

the Comstock Indictments were in the package, and could not tell how they got there if they were there.

Bernard J. York, Clerk of the Court of Sessions, produced fifty-seven indictments for gambling which had been dismissed in December, 1883, just at the close of Gen, Catlin's term of office as District Attorney. Mr. Oakey had made the motions for the dismissal of these indictments. The gambling indictments were in the bundle handed up by Mr. Oakey. Foster L. Backus, Gen, Catlin's chief deputy, was the next witness. After Catlin's term expired he learned that some of the gambling cases had been dismissed. Before the term closed Gen, Catlin gave instructions not to dismiss any cases under the gambling laws in which Mr. Comstock had turnished the evidence. He did not know how they came to be dismissed. In his opinion Mr. Bacon, the chief clerk of the office, was responsible for the dismissed of the policy cases. If that were so, his action was surreptitious and unauthorized. Bacon had urged their dismissal. There were relations existing between him and the lottery policy men. He was a Irlend of the man who, the witness supposed, was McClelland, the principal policy man. When the policy men were in trouble they always used to go to Bacon, and he was very courteous and obliging to them. But the witness did not wish to attribute any corrupt motive to Mr. Bacon.

On adjourning Chairman Bacon notified all witnesses under subprens to be present next Friday morning. Under the resolution creating the committee they are required to complete the investigation and submit their report on before April 1, which will be next Friday. The Chairman's announcement would therefore seem to imply an expectation that they will secure an extension of time. They are nowhere near through the investigation yet.

cal performance in his Houston street resort Mr. Scott read police affidavits in support of his motion, and Mr. Hummel replied with praises of Mr. Hill as an old and law-abiding citizen. He said that Hill gave up his theatrical license some months ago in order to retain his liquor license and run his restaurant and so-called dairy. He had not given theatrical performrnoes since then. The scenery had been removed from the stage and only dance music had been played for the entertainment of visitors to the place. An affidavit of Benjamin C. Banford, a retired fur dealer, who said he had been a frequenter of the resort for years, was read in support of this statement.
Mr. Soott argued that if the Court decided in Hill's favor any saloon keeper could give musical entertainments by simply clearing a place

The cases of George and John Theiss and George Huber, the Fourteenth street concert saloon keepers, were called to the attention of Judge Gildersleave in the General Sessions Court yesterday. Col. Spencer appeared on behalf of the Theiss brothers, and asked the Court to examine into the complaints against the defendants. If the Court concluded that the facts set forth therein were sufficient to sustain the charge of violating the amusement laws, Col. Spencer said his clients would plead guilty. Emanuel Friend in behalf of Huber, who also contends that the allegations made do not constitute the offence charged, said that he would also act according to the Court's decision on the legality of the complaints.

Squire Next, Perhaps Judge Patterson presided in the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday long enough to adjourn the Court until Friday. This was done at the request of Judge Barrett. Many persons had gathered in the court, for it was expected that a motion would be made by As sistant District Attorney Nicoll that would indicate which one of the indicated ex-Aidermen would be arranged for trial next.

held in the Oyer and Terminer, because it was transferred there from the General Sessions on an application made by Richard S. Newcombe and ten Tracy, Flynn's counsel. Judge Gliderslesse will probably appear as a this matter. Those gentlemen who met on Sunday are Prohibitionists: they have as much complaint/gaginst Dr. Croeby as they have against me. Now I am not a robibitionist. I am informed by the loles authorities they cannot mean a prohibitory is authorities they cannot mean a prohibitory is at the district of light drinks in certain places, or a law which would give us fewer saloons. Now, I am not in favor of prohibiting Sunday drinking, but I am in favor of making it as light as possible. I think it hard that the rich men can buy while the poor men are prohibited."

Comedian Nat C. Goodwin will not play at the Bijou Theatre until Thursday evening next, and until that time dress rehearsals will take place of the new comic opera, "Big Pous," in which Mr. Goodwin will make his first appearance. The benefit for the Masonic hall and Asylum Faud, which was to have taken place on Wednesday of this week, has been postponed until the Wednesday afternoon following, and all tickets for March 50 will be good for that date, April 0.

District Assembly 49 will on Sunday evening for the first time in its history, hold a meeting open to the public. It will be in the Windsor Theatre, and will parisks of the character of an enterta mment. General Master Workman T. V. Powderly will preside. Conspicuous Knights of Labor from all sections of the country and Canada will be present. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the sufferers of the late strike.

THE STEWART COLLECTION.

Some of the Prices Paid for Royal Sevres Vascs and Other Art Objects. The first part of the Stewart collection of bric-A-brac, ceramics, and glassware was sold yesterday afternoon at the American Art Galories & Fast Twenty-third street. The hall was well filled, but not crowded. A number of dealers were there to buy for private persons. The sales amounted to $14,500, and 199 lots were sold. The highest price paid for a single lot was $2,900 for a pair of large royal Sevres vases, standing fifty inches high. In four oval-shaped medallions are allegorical paintings, snaped medalions are allegorical paintings, representing Painting. Music. Spring, and Summer, by E. Apoil. The body of the vase is turquoise blue, ornamented with embossed gold, and mountings of ormolu. Another pair of royal Sèvres vases brought bossed gold, and mountings of ormolu. Another pair of royal Sèvres vases brought $1,600. They are of tall ovoid form, revolving on bases of ormolu and porcelain. Cupids, female figures, and foliage, painted by C. Labarré, ornament the sides. They are of bies de roi glaze at top and bottom, and ornamented with gold. The handles are of wrought ormolu. A smaller pair of royal Sèvres vases, much like the last in quality and style, sold for $450. The pedestals of the first pair, of carved onyx, with gold-gilt mountings and ornaments, sold for $300. Another pair of royal Sèvres vases, painted by C. Labarré, fetched $450. A pair of mantel urns, with covers of royal Sèvres ware, 14x 65; inches, sold for $300.

Among the miscellaneous European ceramics a pair of French porcelain vases, with painted and jewelled ornaments, sold for $130. A pair of pitcher vases of Dresden porcelain, decorated with scenes after Tenlers, fetched $145. A large pair of French porcelain vases, with rich maroon glaze, of Etruscan design, and ornamented with classical paintings by Courtel, brought $180. A large bust of Minerva in French porcelain sold for $137.

Among the cabinet specimens of miscellaneous objects a vase, formed by a large ostrich mounted on an egg, in wrought silver, brought $300: and $175 was paid for a carved viory vase, challee shape, on which a hundred and forty dollars was paid for an easel clock with panel of decorated Sèvres porcelain.

A pair of jardinières, by Corun, of carved onyx, ornaments of wrought $104. A liqueur set of Baccarat glass, comprising six liqueur bottles and eighteen glasses, brought $130.

A pair of jardinières, by Corun, of carved onyx, ornaments of wrought gold, gilt bronze, and French cloisonné enamel, brought $135. A combined pedestal and flower holder of Chinese design in French porcelain went at $350. A jardinière of wrought polished brass brought $200.

$50,000 ON HAND FOR IRELAND.

The Parliamentary Fund Association Will Reserve It for a Crisis.

When the Irish Parliamentary Fund Asso ciation met yesterday at 20 Nassau street Chairman Eugene Kelly referred to the address of President Fitzgerald of the Irish National League appealing for aid for Ireland, and declared that the Parliamentary Fund would not in any way antagonize the work of the National aid. The fund, he said, was organized to reach aid. The fund, he said, was organized to reach a part of the American people and Irish-Americans who had not previously been appealed to for succor for Ireland's cause.

Secretary R. M. Walters reported that the funds still on hand in the association treasury were $50,000, and it was resolved to hold the money until a crisis arises, when extraordinary aid is again needed to help the people of the Green Isle in their struggle for constitutional self-government.

Green Isle in their struggle for constitutional self-government.

James P, Farrell, the "Little Napoleon of home rule," read an extract from The Evening Sun about the imprisonment of Father Keller in Kilmainham jail, and argued from it that Pope Leo was really in favor of home rule for Ireland. Judge Browne, who presided, produced a pile of handsome souvenir copies of the addresses delivered at the banquet recently given in honor of Justin McCarthy. The books are bound in morocco and prinied in green. Copies, with inscriptions lettered in gold, were sent by unanimous vote to Gladstone. Parnell, and Mr. McCarthy. Special copies were presented to Chairman Eugene Kelly, C. C. Shayne, L. J. Callanan, Major Byrne, R. M. Walters, Miles O'Brien, J. P. Farrell, Judge O'Gorman, Judge Ernest Hall, Commissioner Coleman, and Assistant District Attorney Fitzgerald in recognition of their labors in behalf of the fund last winter.

Corporation Counsel Lacombe has replied in a long letter, with reference to Mayor Hewitt's inquiries as to the effect of the repeal of the act requiring the city to purchase Pelham Bay Park. He is in doubt as to whether the courts would compet the city to pay dam-ages, or to what extent such damages might be recov-ered. He concludes as follows:

residents and taxpayers of the town of Peham, of whom you speak, did not appear in the early part of 1885 to assist the most consist and the resident in the early part of 1885 to assist the most consist and the resident expenditure had been had or damage accrued under its terms. They seed lonely kept aloof at that time, the excess advanced in favor of some of them being that their social surroundings would be made so unpleasant for them if they undertook to secure the repeal of the bill that they would not dare to oppose the wishes of their neighbors in the matter. Had they possessed at that time some measure of the courage which they now exhibit the passage of the repeal act, at a time when it could do least harm to the city, might have been secured."

Lawton's Smash Felt in Atlanta.

The Gate City Gas Company of Atlanta, of which the fugitive Walter E. Lawton was Treasurer and Becretary, has been put into the hands of a receiver. The company was incorporated with a capital stock of ENVIOUS and began delivering ras in June. 1884. Osgood Welsh was President. Mr. Lawton was reputed to be the largest stockholder and bondholder. Renjamin Perkins of New York, William D. Farwell, the dry goods merchant of Unicago, and B. F. Sherman of Yorkers were also directors. The company valued its real estate and plant three months ago at $225,000.

NEW YORK.

About two years ago a cancerous sore made its appearance on my face, and as my ancestors on both sides had been afflicted with cancers, I was filled with gravest apprehensions. The future was overcast with dark shadows, and in groping about in search of relief my attention was called to Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). I concluded at once to test it, and did so with the happiest results. The sore disappeared and my face it well. cluded at once to test it, and did so with the happiest resuits. The sore disappeared, and my face is well.

My mother had a cancer on the nose, and it was eating away that organ with alarming rapidity. I sent her one dosen bottles of Swiff's Specific, which she used according to dir. ctions. The sore soon ceased to eat, and all inflammation disappeared, and the great hole made by the cancer closed up and healed over completely. My mother is now well, and has been for over a year.
